*NHL record

The Red Wings are climbing toward the top in the National Hockey League under the ownership of Mike Ilitch, but the team's success is no surprise to those who know his track record in other endeavors. He has a knack for starting from scratch and building winners, and he's keeping his string intact in hockey.

In the 1950s, Mike was a door-to-door salesman who peddled awnings, pots & pans and china. The native Detroitier also had his own recipe for pizza and a notion that he could sell his product in fast-food stores. Although some people told him such an idea was foolish, Mike and wife Marian saved enough money by 1959 to open the first Little Caesars store in the Detroit suburb of Garden City.

Hard work and brilliant marketing techniques have expanded the Little Caesars chain to more than 1,900 locations in 48 states, Canada and England.

Mike always had been a sportsman in the Detroit area, but he moved into the major leagues in June of 1982 when he purchased the Red Wings from Bruce A. Norris. Although the road to his goal of a Stanley Cup championship hasn't always been smooth, Ilitch has stayed on course with a solid building program.

In addition to an exciting team, Mike also has provided Detroit fans with an outstanding atmosphere at Joe Louis Arena. He constantly is improving the building's interior and has produced many innovations in spectator comfort. That began in January of 1983, when he purchased Olympia Stadium Corp. from Norris and renamed the company Olympia Arenas, Inc., which holds the assets and rights to Detroit's Cobo Arena and the Glens Falls (N.Y.) Civic Center, along with Joe Louis Arena. He has turned the arenas into showplaces which attract millions of people each year.

Ilitch acquired his work ethic on Detroit's west side, where he was born and raised. He played most sports and was All-City in baseball at Cooley High School in 1947. After graduating, Ilitch rejected an offer to sign with the Detroit Tigers and joined the Marine Corps, playing baseball during his four-year enlistment. He signed with the Tigers following his service in the Marines and spent three seasons in Detroit's farm system before an injury ended his baseball career.

Ilitch briefly attended the University of Tampa in Florida, then returned home and began his career as a salesman and entrepreneur, which eventually made him Michigan's first fast-food franchise operator.

In addition to being involved in many humanitarian projects, Ilitch has sponsored several sports teams and leagues throughout the years, including hockey, pro and amateur softball, baseball, bowling and soccer. More than 6,000 youngsters participate yearly in his sports programs. Mike is also restoring the downtown Fox Theatre Building.

Mike and Marian Ilitch, the Red Wings' secretary-treasurer, have seven grown children. Their son-in-law, Jim Lites, is the team's executive vice-president, and his wife, Denise Ilitch-Lites, is general counsel. The other Ilitch children are Ron, Mike Jr., Lisa, Atanas, Christopher and Carole.

JIM

VICE-PRESIDENT

The Red Wings have become one of the NHL's most financially successful franchises after some lean years, and one of the driving forces behind this renaissance is Executive Vice-President Jim Lites.

Lites is involved in every aspect of the team's business operation, including marketing, public relations, advertising, promotions, ticket sales, budget development and negotiation of broadcasting agreements. He serves on the NHL's Board of Governors and represents the Red Wings on league committees for broadcasting and insurance.

Lites is vice-president of administration and operations for Olympia Arenas, Inc., the company that runs Joe Louis Arena and Cobo Arena in Detroit and the Glens Falls (N.Y.) Civic Center. In that post, his duties include finance, concessions, catering, building construction, advertising sales and labor negotiations. During Jim's tenure, OAI has expanded tremendously while attaining its strongest financial position ever.

As a vice-president of Little Caesar International, Inc., Lites also is involved in the food industry, interacting in the marketing and legal aspects of the multi-million-dollar pizza company.

Jim, 34, is a native of Pentwater, Mich. He earned a Bachelor of Arts degree with highest honors from the University of Michigan in 1975 and graduated cum laude from the Wayne State University Law School in 1978. While practicing law, he specialized in the areas of litigation and labor contract negotiations.

Jim and his wife, Denise Ilitch-Lites — who is the Red Wings' general counsel — reside in suburban Detroit with their daughter, Brooke.

In an era with so much competition for the entertainment dollar, the days are long gone when professional sports teams — even the very best — can simply open the gates and expect people to flow into the arena.

Although the vastly improved Red Wings set a National Hockey League single-season attendance record last season, the team wouldn't have reached that goal without a big assist from the outstanding marketing efforts of Rosanne Kozerski-Brown.

Brown is one of the nation's most innovative marketing professionals, and her techniques are widely praised by her colleagues. She has lured several sponsors to the Red Wings, and that in turn has produced excitement for fans young and old with such things as ticket discounts, hockey clinics, amateur hockey programs and giveaway items that people receive on numerous occasions at Red Wings games.

Rosanne also is vice-president of marketing and public relations for Olympia Arenas, Inc., the company that runs Joe Louis Arena and Cobo Arena in Detroit and the Glens Falls (N.Y.) Civic Center. In that role, she administers marketing, advertising, publicity and promotions for all types of entertainment, including family shows, concerts and sporting events.

Rosanne, 34, was born in Detroit, raised in Hamtramck and graduated from the University of Detroit in 1974 with a degree in communications. She resides in suburban Detroit with her husband, Baker.

GENERAL MANAGER

Few people received more heat than Jim Devellano when the Red Wings slid to last overall in the National Hockey League in the 1985-86 season. However, when the Red Wings made their amazing comeback last season, it was strange that "Jimmy D" didn't receive more credit. Indeed, Jacques Demers was a miracle-worker as a coach, but it can't be forgotten that Devellano provided the players through such means as the draft and shrewd player acquisitions.

Building a Stanley Cup contender often has been a thankless task for Devellano since he became general manager of the Red Wings July 12, 1982. But last season certainly made his patience pay off while justifying his building plan.

Devellano acquired his philosophy when he was chief scout of the New York Islanders and helped General Manager Bill Torrey build a club that won four consecutive Stanley Cup championships between 1980-83.

Now in his sixth season with the Red Wings, Devellano has used the NHL Entry Draft to lay the foundation for the future, landing some players who already are making important contributions and others who appear ready to bloom. He also has dipped into the talent pool of professional and collegiate free agents, in addition to making some bold trades. Remembering the Islanders' formative years as an NHL expansion team, Devellano has disdained the "quick fix" that produces only short-term results.

Devellano, who never played professional hockey, began his NHL career in 1967 as a scout with the St. Louis Blues, who were founded that year when the league expanded from six to 12 teams. With Devellano's assistance, the Blues were the best expansion franchise and reached the Stanley Cup final in each of their first three seasons.

In 1972, the Islanders were founded, and Torrey hired Devellano as a scout. Many of the Islanders' future stars weren't rated that highly by other scouts, and it's significant that the team's later-round draft choices were indispensable in the championship years.

In the 1979-80 season, Devellano went to Indianapolis to become general manager of the Islanders' farm club in the Central Hockey League and was named Minor League Executive of the Year by The Hockey News in his first season. Jimmy D returned to New York in 1981 and served a year as the Islanders' assistant general manager before becoming G.M. of the Red Wings when Mike Ilitch bought the club. He was given the added title of vice-president Dec. 30, 1985.

Jim, 44, is a native of Toronto. He is single and resides in downtown Detroit.

JACQUES
HEAD COACH

No person had a greater impact on hockey in Detroit last season than Jacques Demers, who turned around the Red Wings in his first year and had fans bubbling with joy that hadn't been seen in nearly a decade.

Undoubtedly, the players deserved much of the credit. Demers insisted his team wasn't comprised of overachievers; that there was solid talent in the lineup. That certainly was true. However, the fact remained that he took the nucleus of a team that had been worst in the NHL the year before and almost led them to first place in the Norris Division.

It was Demers who gave the players an attitude adjustment that sparked the club to a 38-point improvement — best in the NHL. The Red Wings finished second in the Norris Division, one point behind St. Louis after the Blues won the regular-season finale between the teams. In addition, Detroit went from last overall in the league to 11th. All of this was preparation for a magnificent run in the playoffs that ended in the Campbell Conference final — the second consecutive year Demers guided a team to the Stanley Cup semifinal.

The awards rolled in for Jacques during the off-season. He won the Jack Adams Award as the NHL's official Coach of the Year after being runner-up the year before. Demers was a runaway winner in balloting by the NHL Broadcasters' Association. He received 32 of 35 first-place votes and three for second to earn 169 points (five points for a No. 1 vote, three for second and one for third). Hartford's Jack Evans was second with 60 points and Winnipeg's Dan Maloney third with 48.

In addition, Demers received Coach of the Year honors from The Sporting News in voting by his fellow NHL coaches and received the same award from the editorial board of The Hockey News, based on support from the paper's correspondents and readers. Of the 21 ballots cast by NHL coaches in The Sporting News poll (a person couldn't vote for himself), Demers received 11 first-place votes to win the honor for the second consecutive year. Evans was runner-up with seven No. 1 votes. St. Louis' Jacques Martin had two, and another went to Philadelphia's Mike Keenan.

Demers, 43, came to Detroit June 13, 1986, signing a five-year contract as the 20th head coach in franchise history. He had coached St. Louis for the previous three seasons and earned his reputation as a man who demands — and gets — maximum effort from his players.

The Blues never missed the playoffs under Demers, advancing once to the Campbell Conference final and another time to the second round. After a second-place finish in his first season, 1983-84, the Blues went two rounds in the playoffs. They won the regular-season Norris Division championship in 1984-85 but were ousted in the opening round of postseason play. In 1985-86, St. Louis was third in the Norris Division, two points behind second-place Minnesota and three in back of champion Chicago. St. Louis went on to sparkle in the playoffs, reaching the seventh game of the conference final before losing 2-1 to Calgary.

The Red Wings are the third NHL team coached by Demers, who also guided the Quebec Nordiques in their inaugural NHL season, 1979-80, posting a 25-44-11 record and missing the playoffs. His three-year regular-season mark with St. Louis was 106-106-28, and his total NHL ledger is 165-186-49.

Born in Montreal Aug. 25, 1944, Demers' playing career ended at age 17 when he suffered a serious leg injury. In 1967-68, he took a coaching job in the Montreal Junior "B" League, leading the Outremont Lions to three provincial titles in four years.

Demers' pro career began in the World Hockey Association. He was named director of player personnel for the Chicago Cougars in 1972-73 and coached the team the following season. He went to the Indianapolis Racers in 1975-76 as head coach and director of player personnel, then departed after two seasons to coach the Cincinnati Stingers in 1977-78.

On June 6, 1978, Demers was named head coach of the Quebec Nordiques, who then were in the WHA. In the Nordiques' final WHA season, 1978-79, he led the club to a second-place finish with a 41-34-5 record. He remained with the team when it joined the NHL the following season.

Although dismissed as Quebec's coach after the 1979-80 season, Demers stayed with the organization as coach and director of player personnel for the Nordiques' top farm club, the Fredericton Express of the American Hockey League. In 1982-83, he guided Fredericton to first place in the AHL's Northern Division with a 45-27-8 record. The performance earned Demers AHL Coach of the Year honors, and he also was named Minor League Coach of the Year and Executive of the Year by The Hockey News. On Aug. 17, 1983, Demers was named head coach at St. Louis.

Jacques and wife Debbie reside in suburban Detroit. He has three children, Brandy, Stephanie and Jason.

NICK POLANO

ASST. GENERAL MANAGER

Nick Polano is in his third season as assistant general manager after three years in the role of head coach and assistant GM.

Polano has several scouting duties, including the NHL and minor and junior leagues. He also keeps tabs on Detroit draft choices playing in the junior ranks, colleges and Europe. During the off-season, he cooperates with the NHL in preparing the Red Wings' schedule.

Polano, 46, came to Detroit after spending the 1981-82 season as an assistant to Scotty Bowman with the Buffalo Sabres. He began his coaching career in 1975-76 at Erie in the North American Hockey League, then left after the 76-77 season for Dayton in the International Hockey League (the club moved to Grand Rapids midway through the 77-78 season).

In 1978-79, Polano rejoined Erie (which had moved to the Eastern Hockey League) and became general manager/coach, guiding the club to three consecutive regular-season and playoff championships. He twice was named EHL Coach of the Year in that span, and The Hockey News honored him as Minor League

Executive of the Year in 1981.

Polano was a defenseman for 15 seasons, playing with Baltimore, Hershey and Providence in the American Hockey League and the Philadelphia Blazers in the World Hockey Association. He had played junior hockey for the Hamilton, Ontario, club that had a working agreement with the Red Wings.

A native of Copper Cliff, Ontario, Nick resides in suburban Detroit with his wife, Elva, and their two children, daughter Jodi and son Michael.

Neil Smith, who constantly is criss-crossing North America or globe-trotting through Europe in the search for talent, is the youngest chief scout in the NHL and already is considered one of the finest in the game.

Smith, 33, directs the scouting staff and makes Detroit's selections at the annual NHL Entry Draft of amateur players. A member of the organization since 1982, he also is general manager of Detroit's Adirondack farm club and earned a large share of credit when the team won the Calder Cup in 1986 as American Hockey League champions.

Born in Toronto, Smith was a defenseman for Brockville in the Central Ontario Junior Hockey League and was the New York Islanders' 12th choice (204th overall) in the 1974 Entry Draft. He attended Western Michigan University on a scholarship, earning All-America honors in his freshman year and spending the remaining three seasons as team captain. After graduating, Smith played two years in the Islanders' farm system with Kalamazoo and Dayton in the International Hockey League.

Smith joined the Islanders as a part-time advance scout in the 1980-81 season as the team won the second of four consecutive Stanley Cup titles. He became a full-time scout the following year. In July of 1982, Smith followed Jim Devellano to Detroit when Jimmy D. resigned as the Islanders' assistant general manager to become GM of the Red Wings.

Neil is single and resides in suburban Detroit.

DIRECTOR OF SCOUTING & PLAYER PROCUREMENT &
ADIRONDACK GEN. MGR.

Don MacAdam is in his second NHL season as an assistant to Head Coach Jacques Demers and already is recognized as one of the game's bright young coaches.

In addition to coaching, MacAdam has been a professor, an author and a specialist in physical conditioning. Before coming to Detroit, he was a head coach in the junior ranks, guiding the Sault Ste. Marie Greyhounds of the Ontario Hockey League in the 1985-86 season.

A native of Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island, MacAdam spent nine years as head coach at the University of New Brunswick, earning Coach of the Year honors in the Atlantic University Athletic Association after the 1983-84 season. He also was a professor of physical education at the university and co-authored two books on hockey conditioning.

While in New Brunswick, Don found time to assist Demers in the early 1980s when Jacques was head coach of the Fredericton Express, the American Hockey League affiliate of the Quebec Nordiques.

Don, 37, is a cousin of former NHL player Al MacAdam. He is single and resides in suburban Detroit.

ASSISTANT COACH

Colin Campbell is in his third season as an assistant coach, specializing in defensive strategy and working closely with each of the defensemen.

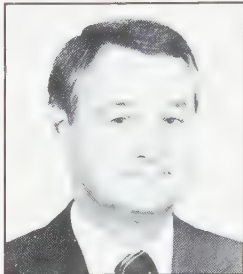

Campbell, 33, spent the final three years of his playing career in Detroit. He retired after the 1984-85 season and joined the coaching staff the following season, working under Harry Neale and Brad Park and remaining in Detroit when Jacques Demers took over last year.

A native of London, Ontario, Campbell played in the junior ranks for Peterborough of the Ontario Hockey Association. He was the Pittsburgh Penguins' third choice (27th overall) in the 1973 NHL Entry Draft but signed instead with the Vancouver Blazers of the World Hockey Association.

After one season in the WHA, Campbell joined Pittsburgh and played four years there. He also played one season each with the Colorado Rockies and Edmonton Oilers and two with the Vancouver Canucks. In his stint with Vancouver, he played in the 1982 Stanley Cup final, where the Canucks lost four straight games to the New York Islanders.

Campbell played in 636 regular-season NHL games, registering 25 goals, 103 assists and 1,292 penalty minutes. He added four goals, 10 assists and 181 penalty minutes in 45 playoff outings.

Nicknamed "Soupy", he and wife Heather reside in suburban Detroit with daughters Lauren and Courtney and son Gregory.

Dan Belisle is in his sixth season with the Red Wings and his second in the role as advance scout of the team's opponents. Belisle, 50, joined the Detroit coaching staff under Nick Polano in 1982-83 and also worked under the regimes of Harry Neale and Brad Park.

Belisle made his NHL coaching debut in 1978-79 as head man of the Washington Capitals. He led Washington to a 15-point improvement over the previous year but was deposed when the club slumped early in the 79-80 season. In 1980-81, he became general manager/coach of Dallas in the old Central Hockey League, guiding the club to the regular-season championship and being named Coach of the Year — the fourth time he received that honor in the minors.

Belisle's first coaching job was at Des Moines of the International Hockey League in 1972-73, and he led that club to a title in his second season. In 1975-76, he went to Syracuse in the old North American Hockey League and captured the regular-season and playoff titles in his second year. He spent the 77-78 season at Philadelphia in the American Hockey League before going to Washington.

Belisle spent the bulk of his 15-year playing career as a right wing in the minors, excluding a four-game stint with the New York Rangers midway through the 1960-61 season. He retired as a player in 1971.

Dan is a native of South Porcupine, Ontario. He and wife Carol reside in suburban Detroit and have three grown children, Debra, Dan Jr. and Dee.

When Dr. Hugh Bray joined the Red Wings last season, he became the NHL's first full-time team psychologist.

Bray constantly is chatting with players at home and on the road in handling their psychological needs, in addition to visiting players at Detroit's Adirondack farm club in the American Hockey League. He also prepares mental training programs that are presented to each player at training camp. Bray had worked part-time for St. Louis in the 1984-85 and 85-86 seasons when Jacques Demers coached there.

Bray, 41, has impressive credentials. A native of Detroit who was raised in suburban Royal Oak, he studied at Michigan State University and earned an Associate of Arts degree from Oakland University in Michigan. After getting a Bachelor of Arts degree from the University of Michigan, he went on to St. Louis University, where he received a Masters degree and Ph.D in psychology. Two of his theses in postgraduate work dealt with hockey — "Stress Reactions of NHL Goalies" and "The Relationship of Behavioral Information to Ice Hockey Performance in Competition."

Bray is a certified stress management counselor and has worked with patients in cardiac rehabilitation programs. He also has been a professional musician and has played and coached amateur hockey.

Hugh and wife Susan have a son, Matthew, and reside in suburban Detroit.

PSYCHOLOGIST

Dave Dryden, in his fifth season as the Red Wings' goaltending coach, is very knowledgeable on the position, having been an NHL netminder and also authoring a book on the subject.

Dryden, 46, works for the club on a part-time basis. He spends time with goalies who are Detroit property on the NHL, minor league and junior levels, and he also scouts netminders who are potential acquisitions through the NHL Entry Draft, trades or free agency.

A native of Hamilton, Ontario, Dryden spent parts of nine seasons in the NHL with the New York Rangers, Chicago Blackhawks, Buffalo Sabres and Edmonton Oilers, posting a 3.19 goals-against average and nine shutouts in 203 games. Dave also played in the World Hockey Association for the Chicago Cougars and Edmonton, returning to the NHL for his final season when the Oilers joined the league in 1979-80. In 242 WHA performances, he registered a 3.51 average and eight shutouts.

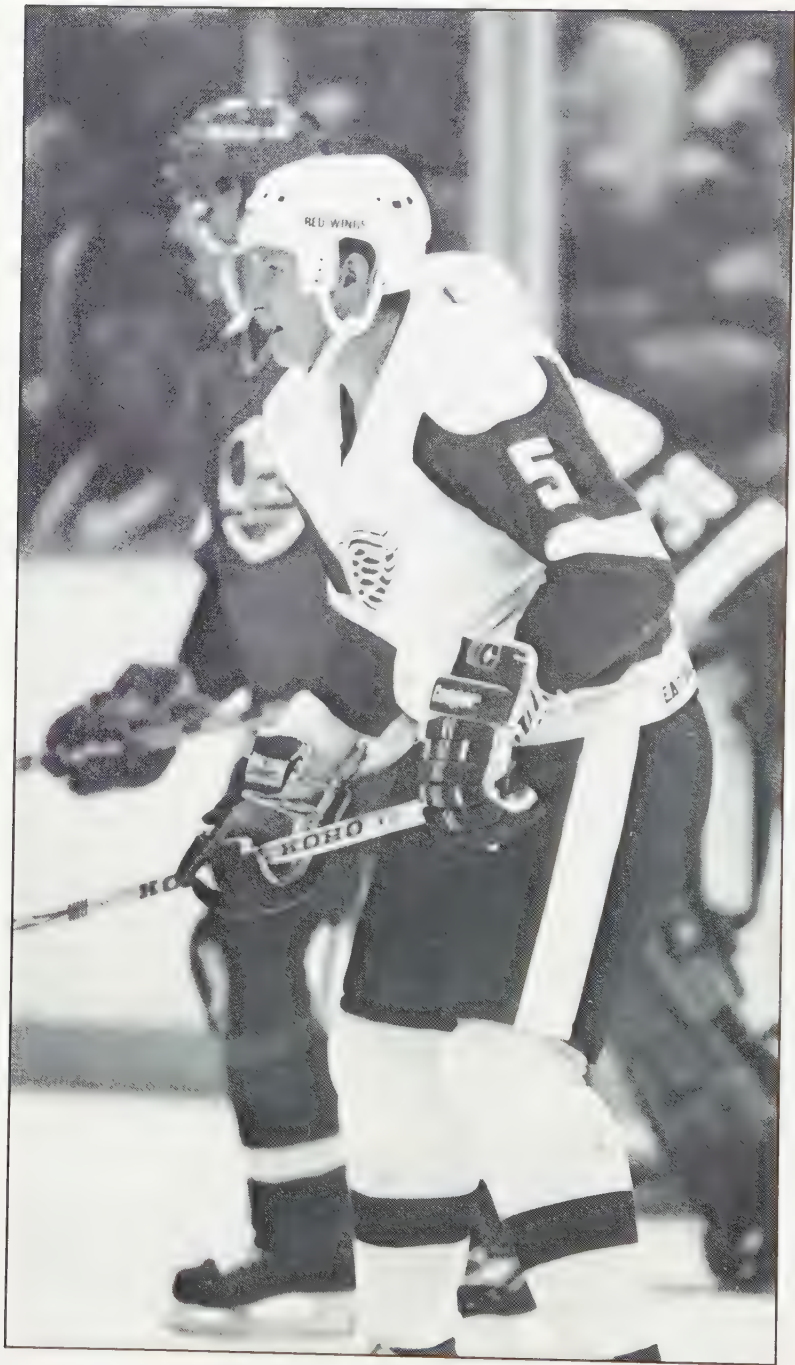

Dryden's previous coaching experience was in the junior ranks with the Peterborough Petes, where he was head coach of the Ontario Hockey League club in 1981-82.

Dave teaches physical education at White Oaks Public School in the Toronto suburb of Mississauga. He and wife Sandra have two children, Greg and Debbie, and reside in Oakville.

TRAINING & MEDICAL STAFF

Physical Therapist Jim Pengelly, in his sixth season with the Red Wings, is one of the best in his field. His innovative training methods have reduced injuries and improved endurance, and his vast knowledge is valuable to players, staff and media. Pengelly also is treasurer of the Professional Hockey Trainers' Association. A native of Buffalo and a graduate of Ohio State University, Pengelly joined the Red Wings after four years as physical therapist for the Buffalo team in the Major Indoor Soccer League. Jim and wife Sue have a daughter, Robyn, and reside in suburban Detroit.

Trainer Mark Brennan is in his second season with the club. He came to Detroit after spending the 1985-86 season as assistant trainer of Detroit's Adirondack affiliate in the American Hockey League. He had worked two years in the junior ranks with New Westminster in the Western Hockey League following one season with Toronto in the North American Soccer League. A native of Toronto, he has an athletic therapy degree from Sheridan College. Mark and wife Judy reside in suburban Detroit.

Assistant Trainer Larry Wasylon has numerous duties in the dressing room and helps visiting teams in their needs. A Detroit native who's in his second year with the club, Larry attended Henry Ford Community College. He is single.

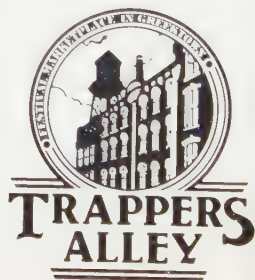

The Red Wings' superb medical staff is headed by Drs. John Finley, D.O.; Robert Teitge, M.D., and C.J. Regula, D.M.D. Dr. Finley has his own general surgery practice, based in Highland Park. Dr. Teitge is director of the Michigan Sports Medicine and Orthopedic Surgery Center in Warren, and Dr. Regula is executive director of Midwestern Dental Centers, with locations in Dearborn, Warren and Sterling Heights.

ON THE AIR

The Red Wings provide outstanding radio and television coverage in bringing all of the excitement to fans who can't attend every game.

Bruce Martyn is in his 24th season in the Red Wings' broadcast booth, handling radio play-by-play of all 80 games on flagship station WJR-AM (760), along with an outstate network.

The Red Wings again are on WKBD-TV (Channel 50) and have an agreement with the station through the 1988-89 season. In addition, the team is in its second year on cable television with the Pro-Am Sports System (PASS). Channel 50 is carrying a minimum of 18 games this season and PASS is televising one preseason contest and 37 regular-season games.

Dave Strader is in his third season behind the TV play-by-play mike, and former Red Wings star Mickey Redmond also is back for his third year as color commentator.

Martyn, a native of Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., began his radio career in his hometown at WSOO. He came to Detroit in the 1950s and worked at WCAR-Radio, then joined Channel 50 when it started operating in 1962. Bruce moved into the Red Wings' booth in 1964-65 and has been a popular fixture through the years.

Strader, also the team's director of broadcasting and community relations, came to the Red Wings in the 1985-86 season after spending six years with the Adirondack Red Wings — Detroit's American Hockey League affiliate — where he was the broadcaster and director of public relations. Dave twice was honored by the New York State Broadcasters' Association for play-by-play excellence, and once received the Ken McKenzie Award as the AHL's top promoter. A native of Glens Falls, N.Y., home of the Adirondack club, he's a graduate of the University of Massachusetts.

Redmond, twice a 50-plus goal scorer in five full seasons with the Red Wings during the 1970s, also has provided color commentary for Hockey Night in Canada on the CBC network and for ESPN cable. Mickey made the NHL's First All-Star Team in 1973 and Second Team in '74. In 538 regular-season games over nine NHL seasons, including a stint with Montreal, he had 233 goals and 195 assists.

In his eighth season as producer of televised games is Toby Cunningham, who also coordinates feature stories. Last year, Cunningham won his third local Emmy Award for production of Red Wings games.

Following is the team's radio network:

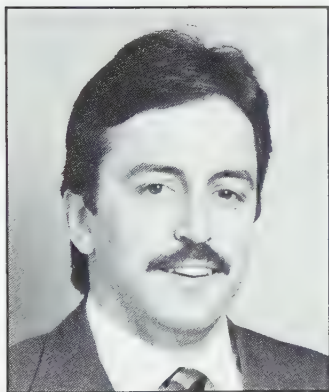

WJR-AM (760), Detroit
WKHM-AM (970), Jackson
WCUZ-AM (1230), Grand Rapids
WDMJ-AM (1320), Marquette
WKJF-FM (92.9), Cadillac

BECAME RED WING

Obtained from Quebec Jan. 17, 1987, with Gilbert Delorme and Mark Kumpel for John Ogradnick, Doug Shedden and Basil McRae.

1986-87 SEASON

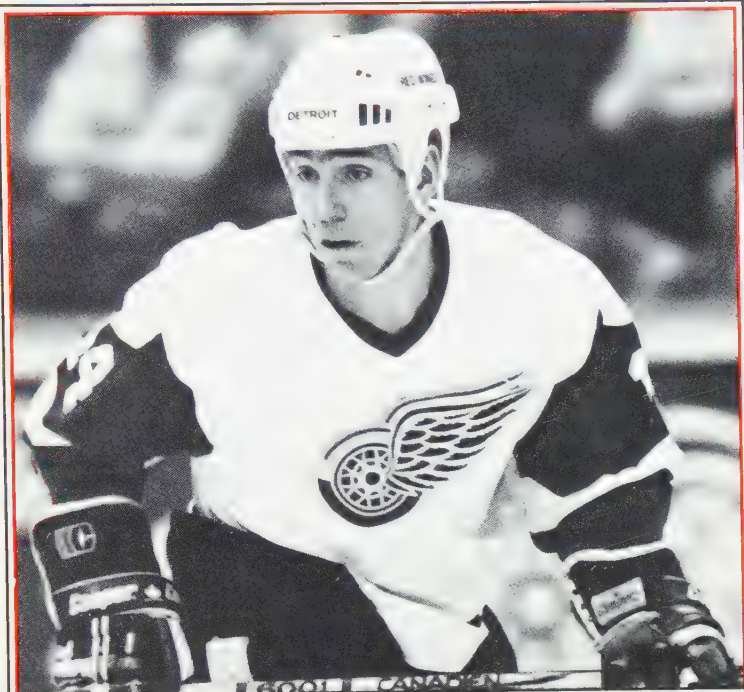

Registered career highs in goals (40) and points (75) in 81 games overall... Fell one assist shy of career-high 36 he had for Colorado in 1981-82... Led Detroit in goals and was second in scoring... After being acquired from Quebec, he had points (15-16—31) in 22 of 35 regular-season games for Detroit, including six multiple-point performances... Was 9-7—16 at home and 6-9—15 on road. Longest scoring streak for Detroit was seven games (3-6—9) Feb. 4-20... Most productive game as Red Wing came in second contest with club when he was 2-2—4 Jan. 21 vs. Islanders... Overall total of 15 power-play goals ranked second on club... Was 3-9—12 on power play for Detroit. Minus-3 for Detroit and minus-15 overall... Third in club playoff scoring with points (4-9—13) in 11 of 16 outings. Third on club at plus-5 in playoffs... Had two hat tricks for Quebec, giving him five in career.

CAREER

Played in junior ranks for hometown Saskatoon team (WHL), getting 119 points (64-55) in final season of 1978-79... Vancouver's second choice (26th overall) in 1979 Entry Draft... Missed much of rookie season because of knee injury... Traded to Colorado by Canucks via Winnipeg in three-team deal in 1981... Paced all Colorado left wings with 60 points (24-36) in 1981-82... Dealt to New Jersey for 82-83 season, then was traded to Minnesota, where he spent one season and part of another before going to Quebec in trade midway through 84-85 season... Until this past season with Detroit, the 84-85 season had been his most productive year when he had combined total of 62 points (31-31) with North Stars and Nordiques.

PERSONAL

Brent and wife Susan were married last June... They spent off-season in Saskatoon... Enjoys golf and sailing... He's been competitive water skier... Was stickboy with Saskatoon Blades (WHL) when current teammate Dave Lewis played there in junior ranks... Once was traded for Lewis, from New Jersey to Minnesota in three-team deal involving Los Angeles.

Protection. Drivers find it at Auto Care.

Your Shell Auto Care dealer is a good guy to have on your team. Because he offers you protection on four important car repairs*, from start to finish.

Before the work begins, your Auto Care dealer gives you a written estimate for your approval. He employs certified mechanics who have the skills and equipment they need to do the job. He even returns your old parts so you know what's been replaced.

And when the work is done, your Auto Care dealer hands you his personal written, limited warranty, giving you protection on the repair for 90 days or 4,000 miles of normal driving. If there's any problem with defective parts or workmanship, your dealer will do the work over free. Or refund your money.

Drivers find protection at Shell Auto Care. And they find it right in their neighborhood. Visit your Auto Care dealer soon.

DETROIT RED WINGS

HISTORY

The Detroit hockey franchise has played a major role in helping the game achieve immense popularity in the United States, in addition to being a solid and vibrant member of the National Hockey League.

The advent of youth hockey programs in the Detroit area can be traced to the team's glory years in the 1950s, when youngsters dreamed of emulating the great players who sparkled at Olympia Stadium. Those people and their children — and their children's children — developed an interest in the game that never has waned. Indeed, the fervor has increased. For years, hockey observers have praised Detroiters as the NHL's most devoted fans — in good times and bad.

Last season, the Red Wings underwent a resurgence under Coach Jacques Demers and set an NHL attendance record with a 40-game regular-season total of 750,225, an average of 18,756. However, the season before, when the Red Wings were last in the overall standings among the 21 clubs, they still finished sixth on the NHL's attendance ledger. Few, if any, cities in any sport can boast of fans with that kind of dedication.

Professional hockey came to Detroit Sept. 25, 1926, when a group of local businessmen purchased an NHL franchise and filled the roster by importing the Victoria Cougars of the Western Hockey League. The team was called the Detroit Cougars but didn't have a home in the city that first season. Construction of Olympia Stadium had just begun, so the club played its home games across the Detroit River in Canada at Windsor's Border Cities Arena.

The Cougars played their first NHL game Nov. 18, 1926, and dropped a 2-0 decision to the Boston Bruins. The team won its next game, 4-2 over the New York Americans, but it was one of few victories in that inaugural season as the Cougars finished in last place with a 12-28-4 record in the 44-game schedule.

The following season marked the arrival of Jack Adams — a man who left an indelible mark on Detroit's hockey history while becoming one of the game's legends. Adams replaced Art Duncan as general manager/coach and began a 35-year association with the club that would propel him into the Hockey Hall of Fame.

In addition to Adams, the club also had a new home. The Cougars played their first game at Olympia Nov. 22, 1927, against the defending champion Ottawa Senators. Detroit's Johnny Sheppard scored the first goal in the new building, but the Cougars were blanked the rest of the way in a 2-1 defeat. On Nov. 27 against the Montreal Canadiens, Detroit posted its first victory and shutout at Olympia as goaltender "Hap" Holmes helped the club register a 2-0 triumph.

The Cougars went on to finish fourth that season, missing the playoffs again with a 19-19-6 record. In 1928-29, Detroit placed third and made the first of the team's 37 playoff appearances in 61 seasons. However, Detroit was ousted by the Toronto Maple Leafs in a two-game, total-goal series. That modest success was followed by successive fourth-place finishes the next two seasons which left the club out of postseason play.

In 1930, the team had changed its name to Falcons, at the urging of Detroit media who thought a new monicker might bring some luck. Indeed, the Falcons landed a playoff spot in the 1931-32 season despite a sub-500 record.

In the summer of 1932, American industrialist James Norris purchased the franchise and renamed it Red Wings. He imported the new name from Canada, where he had played hockey for a club called the Winged Wheelers in the Montreal Athletic Association. That team's insignia — a winged wheel — struck Norris as a natural for a club representing the Motor City. The emblem became an automobile tire with a flying wing attached, and it has remained the same through the years, except for some minor artistic variations.

With Norris and Adams running the show, the Red Wings became an NHL power.

In 1933-34, they won the first of 13 regular-season titles with a 48-game record of 24-14-10, then made it to the Stanley Cup final for the first time before bowing to the Chicago Blackhawks, three games to one, in a best-of-five series.

In 1935-36 and 36-37, the Red Wings were the NHL's dominant team. Detroit won the regular-season championship each season and also captured its first two Stanley Cup titles. In all, the Red Wings have won the prized Cup seven times.

Detroit won its third Cup championship in 1943. Then, in the late 1940s, Adams stockpiled a wealth of talented players and the club put together one of the most amazing strings in NHL history. Between the 1948-49 and 54-55 seasons, the Red Wings won a record seven consecutive regular-season titles and brought home the Stanley Cup four times in that span (1950, '52, '54 and '55).

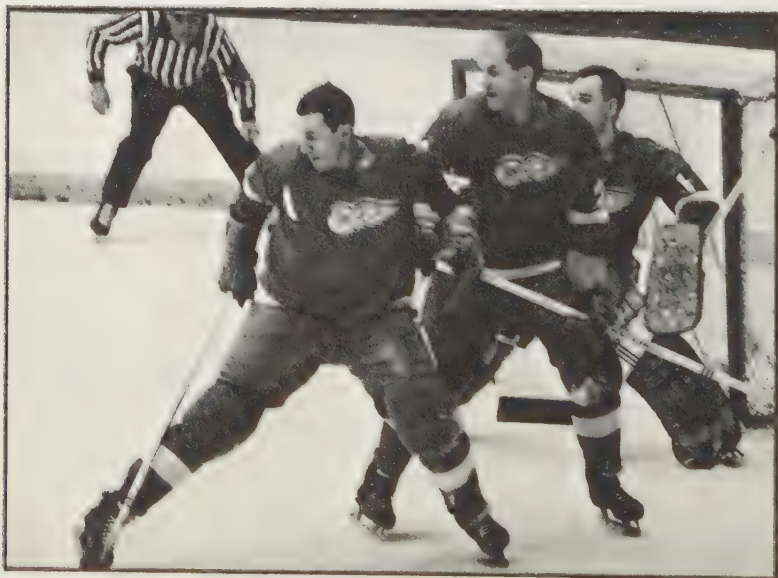

The Red Wings remained strong through the late 1950s and into the '60s, winning two more regular-season championships and bowing four times in the Cup final — the last time in 1966 against Montreal.

Ownership of the Red Wings remained in the Norris family for 50 years. The elder Norris served as club president until his death in 1952 and was succeeded by his daughter, Marguerite. In 1955, Norris' son, Bruce, took over as president and held that post until selling the team to Mike Ilitch June 22, 1982.

Although the Red Wings endured some tough times after the glory years of the 1950s and '60s, the aggressive and enthusiastic ownership of Ilitch has the team soaring back to the heights. In addition, Ilitch has poured money into Joe Louis Arena to make it the most beautiful facility in the NHL, along with providing various comforts for the fans.

In their history, the Red Wings have featured some of the game's brightest stars, including the greatest of them all — Gordie Howe. Forty-two people who have been associated with the club are in the Hockey Hall of Fame. Red Wings have been voted to NHL All-Star teams 89 times, and Detroit players and coaches have won individual league trophies on 44 occasions.

Olympia, the venerable "Red Barn" of Grand River Avenue, no longer is standing, but the excitement at Joe Louis Arena is no less intense as the Red Wings head back toward the upper echelon of the NHL. It's a franchise with a storied history, but there are plenty of exciting chapters yet to be written.

John Labatt took over a brewery in 1827 and began to make Canadian beer his way. It was the beginning of Canada's Beer. Discover Canada's best kept secret.

Labatt's... born of a dual heritage combining the hearty characteristics of European brewing tradition and the mellow taste of finer American beers.

The perfect beer.

A perfectly balanced taste... less heavy than the Europeans, with more character than the Americans. And more purely drinkable than either. It is a taste that has won over 100 gold medals in international competitions. Including perhaps the toughest of them all... the International Brewers' Exposition in London.

Winner of the ultimate taste test.

Eighty of the world's finest beers... German, Dutch, Canadian, American, English.

Five days of eliminations. A completely blind taste test. No favors asked... and none given.

From the world's finest beers, the judges chose Labatt's finest of them all.

Obviously they share the standards of our brewmaster, Roger Bergeron, who said: "Someone asked me once if Labatt's really is the 'perfect beer' and, of course, I just smiled modestly. But I'll tell you... the Labatt's people drink is pretty damn close, or it doesn't leave the brewery."

Enough said.

Discover it for yourself.

CANADA'S BEER

THE PERFECT BEER.

PRESS, RADIO, TV INFORMATION

SEASON PASS: Valid for all preseason and regular-season games; available to authorized media representatives covering majority of games.

GAME PASS: Valid for one specific game; available to authorized media representatives covering limited number of games.

HOW TO APPLY: Applications for media credentials must be filed with Red Wings' public relations office, Joe Louis Arena, Detroit, MI 48226; phone (313) 567-7333. Credential requests are subject to review by Detroit chapter of Professional Hockey Writers' Association and/or Detroit Sports Broadcasters' Association. Single-game credentials must be requested at least 24 hours in advance. Please enter arena through West Gate press entrance, located on Third Avenue.

PRESS BOX & RADIO-TV BOOTHS: Located at top of arena seats (row 42) on west side of building and reached by taking West Gate elevator to third floor. Equipped with Charge-a-Call phones and VDT outlets. Coffee, soda and beer available. City law prohibits taking beverage cans out of press box into arena.

MEDIA LOUNGE: Opens two hours before game time and remains open 45 minutes after game. Hot meals served before games and pizza afterward. Coffee, soda, beer and mixed drinks available. Room is located down hallway from Red Wings' dressing room on side of Joe Louis Arena facing Atwater Street. Due to limited space, guests are not permitted.

PHOTOGRAPHERS: Press photographers requiring specific vantage points are asked to phone Red Wings' public relations office by 4 p.m. on game day.

PARKING: Reporters/photographers for daily newspapers/wire services or reporters/camerapersons from TV/radio stations who cover club on regular basis may park at no charge in media section of Joe Louis Arena Garage. This is a city-owned parking lot with limited space for media; therefore, Red Wings regret they are unable to accommodate everyone for free. Receipts are available for expense accounts of those who have to pay parking.

The Red Wings are happy to serve you, and we appreciate your cooperation.

SCHEDULE

Each of the 21 teams plays an 80-game schedule.

Teams in the Norris, Smythe and Adams divisions play eight games against each other (four home, four away), plus three games apiece against each of the remaining 16 teams (two home, one away, or vice-versa, alternating the extra home game each season).

The six clubs in the Patrick Division play each other seven times (four home, three away, or vice-versa, alternating the extra home game each season), plus three games apiece against each of the remaining 15 teams (home-and-road format same as other three divisions).

TIE-BREAKER FORMULA

To break a tie in the final regular-season standings, the following methods are used: 1. Most wins; 2. Best record between or among the tied teams. In the six-team Patrick Division, in which each club plays the other teams seven times apiece, the odd game (fourth home game of tied club) would not count; 3. Most goals by a club in games between or among the tied teams. In the Patrick Division, the fourth home game of tied club would not count.

STANLEY CUP PLAYOFFS

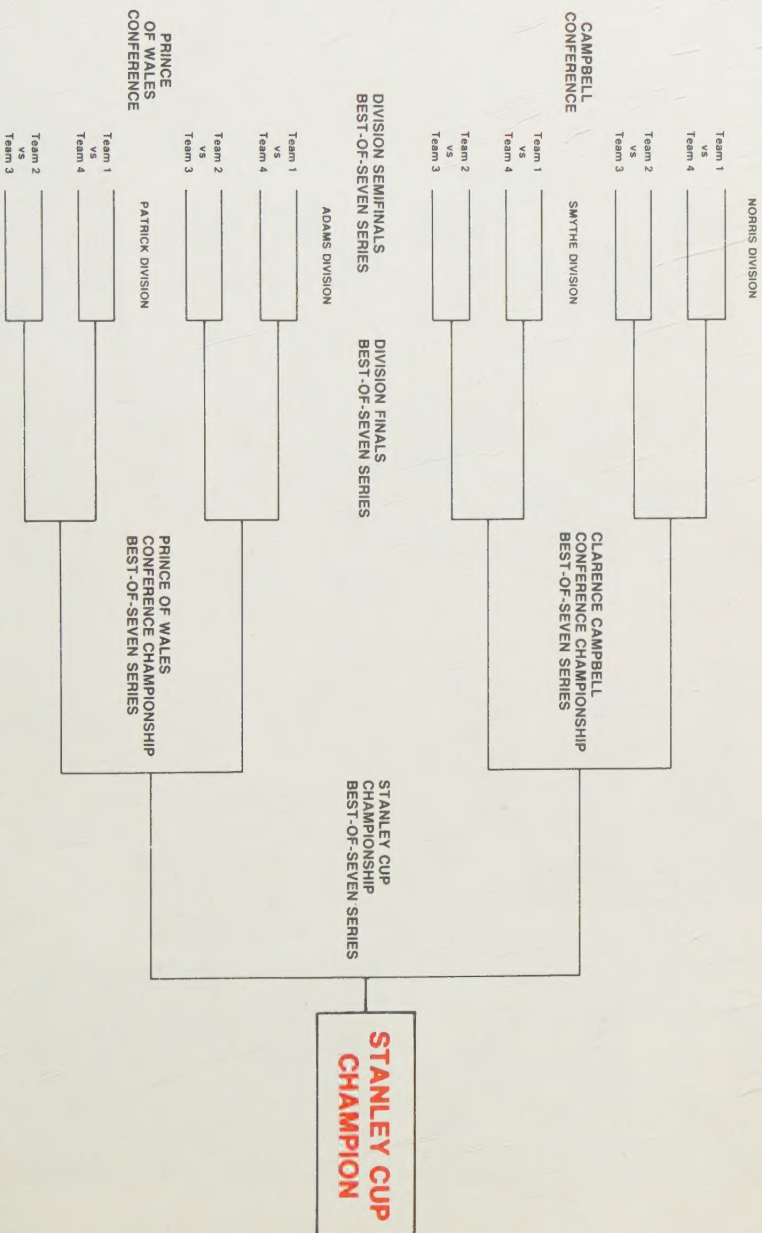

DIVISION SEMIFINALS (Best-of-seven series): First four teams in each division, with the first-place club playing the fourth-place team, and the second-place finisher meeting the third-place club. Games 1, 2, 5 and 7 in home arenas of higher-placed teams. Games 3, 4 and 6 in arenas of lower-placed clubs. Games 5 through 7 to be played only if necessary.

DIVISION FINALS (Best-of-seven series): Winners of division semifinals. Games 1, 2, 5 and 7 in home arenas of clubs with better regular-season records. Games 3, 4 and 6 in arenas of lower-placed clubs. Games 5 through 7 to be played only if necessary.

CONFERENCE CHAMPIONSHIPS (Best-of-seven series): Winners of Norris and Smythe divisions play for Campbell Conference championship, and winners of Adams and Patrick divisions compete for Wales Conference title. Home-ice advantage goes to teams that compiled the best regular-season records. The home-and-road format is same as division series.

STANLEY CUP CHAMPIONSHIP (Best-of-seven series): Campbell Conference champion plays winner of Wales Conference. Home-ice advantage and home-and-road format is same as division series and conference championships.
